Meekin Pitches Finely and His Companions Play Fast Ball-The Bostons and Clevelands Play Two Cames and Break Even -The Philadelphias Strike a Sang at Pittsburgh - Other Cames and Cossip.

Judging from their playing in Chicago on Tuesday and yesterday, it would seem that the New Yorks have at last struck their gait. In sterday's game the Chicagos were the easiest kind of victims, Meekin's strong pitching almost resulting in a shu-out for them. Davis's men, on the other hand, found Hutchison's curves very freely and the whole team hit him hard. Such good work is an encouragement to the local followers of the team, but the real test will begin this afternoon, when the New Yorks will tackle the Pittsburghs, who lead the race. If victorious to-day it will be a foregone conclusion that the Harlem players are pretty nearly in shape. The Bostons and Clevelands played two games and each got one. Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia, but rain prevented the games in Louisville and Cincinnati. There was no Brooklyn-St. Louis game scheduled. The results:

NEW YORK, 9: CHICAGO, 1.

CHICAGO, May 15,-Pitcher Meekin proved as much of a terror to the Colts to-day as did Amos Rusle yesterday. But for the gift of a single run in the fourth inning, on a base on balls to Stewart, Anson's youngsters would have been shut out. They were like a team of amateurs. and while they made no startling exhibition of bad playing, they seemed weak and ineffectual at every stage of the game. Meekin had them at his mercy from the beginning, and the game was too one-sided to be of interest to the shiver ing crowd who had defied the chilly Marchlike air in the vain hope of seeing the Colts bat out a victory before Capt. Davis and his husky leather pounders had folded their tent and like air in the vain hope of seeing the Colts bat out a victory before Capt. Davis and his husky leather pounders had folded their tent and skipped.

All told there were about 1.800 cranks on the bleachers and on the grand stand, and a majority were there to "root" for the home team. Among the box occupants a conspicuous personage was James J. Corbett, the prize fighteractor, who "plugged" for the visiting team and sat heroically out in the chilly air until the end of the game. Umpire Long, who officiated at yesterday's game, again donned the mask, but falled to please the crowd a bit better than he did on the first trial.

In the first inning the home team was retired without a run, though Wilmot made a brilliant two-bagger over second base. The New Yorks at once settled down to make the intimate acquaintance of "Little Willie" Hutchison, and did it to the extent of two carned runs. Bannon hit a neat single to left, Tiernan went out on a foul to Moran, and then Davis came to bat. As the captain approached the plate he was presented with a beautiful basket of American beauty and Jack roses, the gift of the Misses McQuaid, sisters of the late John McQuaid, who recently died in this city. Capt. Davis recovered from the surprise occasioned by the gift and then siammed the aphere against the right field fence for two bags. He scored on Doyle's out to Moran and a safe hit by Stafford. Neither side scored in the second. In the third the Colts had a white legged-player safely planted on second and third, the result of hits by dyna and Anson, but they died there, as Stration struck out, retiring the side. The New Yorks added one on errors by Hutchison, who threw Van Haltren's easy drive clear over Anson's head. After Van had made third on the play, a wild pitch let him in. The Chicagos got their solitary run in the fourth, assisted by hits by Everett and Moran. No more runs were made until the sixth inning, when the visitors again fell upon "Little Willie." and smote him hip and thigh. Stafford set the ball a-rolling b AMBERST, Mass., May 15.—Amherat defeated Vale to day on Pratt field by a score of 22 to 1. Thomas pitched for Amherst, and the victory was almost entirely due to his fine work. Not a Vale man succeeded in hitting the ball safe. This is the first time Amherst has beaten vale on Pratt field. Carter pitched for two innings and then gave place to Trudeau. Fletcher and Tyler of Amherst are bothsick, so that Shea and Morse played their positions. A pretty catch of a difficult four by Shea was a feature of the game. The Princeton Tigers played horse with the Brown University nine at Orange Oval yesterday afternoon in the presence of about 2,500 spectators. The Providence boys preaented their strongest team, with White, the star pitcher, in the points but the latter was so wild that its bases on balls, coupled with some bad fielding errors, made things easy for the Jersey, men. If was evident to all that White was handicapped during the first two innings by his categor, Lang, who could not half into but when Lang gave way to Jimmy Dunne in the third liming. White auticating became effective and pitched out the game in good shape. denily became effective and pitched out the game in good shape.

Easton, a freshman, pitched a magnificent game for Princeton. He is a left-hander, has some sharp curves, pienty of speed, and beautiful control. He was a puzzle from the start, and, with perfect support, he would have succeeded in shutting the Brown loops out. Bradley led the Princetons in batting, with two singles and a home run, and young Easton was not far behind him. The fielding of Otto, Brooks, Louder, Lowney, and Dunne was especially worthy of mention. The weather was cold and raw, and the game was long-drawn out. The score:

CORNELL'S HENLEY CREW.

Definitely Picked After Some Very Fine Trial Spins. ITHACA, May 15.-The thirteen young men who will go to England for Cornell have been decided upon, and their names follow. The first eight are those who now have seats in the boat: the next four will be taken as substitutes, and will stand a chance of displacing any of the men now having seats if their work proves to be better in the training on the other side of the water:

sons, the thirteen above named, Coach Courters, and C. S. Francis of Troy, trustee of the Navy, and C. S. Francis of Troy, trustee of the university.

Rough weather prevented the usual practice race on the lake to-day, but did not prevent rowing on the inlet, and the work of the Henley crew was all that could be desired. Gradually Coach Courtney becomes more good natured and talkative, always a sign that the work of the crew is pleasing him. An example of how Courtney picks the best eight was given yeaterday. The Varsity and Henley crews were lined up for a quarter-mile tusie. In the Henley boat were Matthews, Spillman, Hager, Freeborn, Hall, Shupe, Dyer, and Hamilton. The struggle was a pretty one to witness, but inch by inch the Henley boat gained on the Varsity until finally, at the finish, the Henley crew had won by three-quarters of a boat's length. This was not satisfactory to Courtney, however. The crews were ordered back, Shane and Dyer being taken out of the Henley boat, and Fennell and Louis taking their places. This time the Henley toat taking their places. This time the Henley crew were victorious by three boats' lengths. The stroke set by young Hamilton of the Henley crew is at case when they are rowing fifty strokes to the minute.

A representative of some English paper here a few days ago would not believe the crew could row such a high stroke. He was taken out on the launch by Courtney, and the four crews were told to get agoing and let out fairly well, but to keep something up their sleeves. The Englishman took out his time bleec and the various expressions on his face were worthy a photographer's observation. The Henley crew set the pace from the start. Beginning with a 38 stroke Hamilton gradually worked it up to a 42, then to 44, and when the stroke due to 46 the visitor became so excited he yelled out: "Impossible," He was further excited when I tell them this in England they will say I lie."

As the time of the departure for the crew grows near the excitement over the race continues to gro vacate in favor of the enterprising members of the Atalanta Boat Club. The latter have been looking for city headquarters for some time and the building committee appointed was authorized to secure premises which might be converted into a sporting and social club of the most modern type. The building mentioned is a fine five-story structure only two years old. Its fine five-story structure only two years old. Its roomy dimensions admit of a gymnasium, running track, bowling alleys, and all the requirements needed by such an active and ambitious organization as the Atalanta B. C.

It was reported last night that the deal has been ratified, and that the oarsmen's bid of $85,000 has proved acceptable. The Atalantas propose to have a boat house and slip on the Hudson for the convenience of barge and other pleasure parties, at the same time retaining their Harlem quarters for racing purposes. They hope to succeed the politicians in possession of the Pontiac Club early in October and to run a winter programme embracing all feasible indoor games and pastimes. The Pontiacs spent something like $75,000 on the plant, so that there is little need of further embellishment, except in what are intended to be the physical departments. It is the ambition of the Atalantas to have a club house second to none within the city limits.

The building committee which has the matter in charge consists of W. C. Doscher, H. T. Huber, E. J. Benson, W. A. Wagstaff, J. B. Heath, D. A. Gaylord, and R. J. Fox.

H. A. McLean is President of the club; G. B. Heath, First Vice-President; E. J. Broson, Treasurer; J. P. Russell, Secretary; E. J. Byrne, Captain; H. H. Wotherspoon, First Lieutenant, and C. A. Herball, Second Lieutenant. roomy dimensions admit of a gymnasium, run-

SHE SAYS HARVARD MUST APOLO-GIZE TO HINKEY.

> mends Must Also Be Made to Illa Foot ball Team or the Blues Won't Play Any More-The Cambridge Captain Proposes the Usual Match, but Thorne Holds Aloof and Names Humillating Conditions-Followers of Both 'Varsities Are in a Ferment Over the Threatened Breach Another football cloud, and a dark one, seems to be gathering for Harvard. Rumors which have circulated among college men for several days were yesterday substantiated by some prominent Yalemen who have been in New Haven recently to see how the crew was getting long. This fresh obstacle to the progress of Harvard's football does not spring from Presilent Eliot's faculty, but from the Yale camp. According to the information just conirmed beyond any doubt, Capt. Brink Thorne of the New Haven eleven stated that his team of Elis will face the Harvard eleven next fall only on certain conditions. And these conditions are of a most extraordinary nature. Indeed they are little short of humiliating. They stip ulate that some one of authority in the Cambridge organization must make amends to the Yale players for the disagreeable things that were said about Capt. Hinkey and some of his men after last fall's game at Springfield.

It is even understood that the Yale captain goes so far as to say that the Harvard coaches must practically make a public apology to ex-Capt. Hinkey and to Yale for their criticisms after the defeat of the crimson by the blue. This remarkable demand by the Yale captain is understood to have been made in reply to correspondence from Capt. Arthur Brower of Harrard relating to a game for next fall.

Immediateld after the Harvard faculty finally ecided about ten dars ago not to interfere with intercollegiate football this year, Capt. Brewer wrote to New Haven seeking a conference with Capt. Thorne in regard to next November's game. For some reason they have as yet been unable to meet, but several letters have passed between them. In these letters Capt. Thorne is said to have asserted that before he can consider any arrangements for next fall there must be an apology made to ex-Capt. Hinkey and his players.

When the self-appointed Yale jury, which was formed last December to investigate the charges against Hinkey's playing at Springfield, published its whitewashing decision in Jannary, it seems that it had formed a plan of action. That plan was obvious, and it was thought that nothing more would be heard in that direction. But this new move be part of the scheme to convince the football world that Yale's greatest player was an innocent as well as an outrageously abused man. By the prominent Yale men referred to as substantiating what have until now been rumors, it is said that the feeling at New Haven would not have been so intense but for the fact that the hardest things said last fall were in statements made by some of Harvard's highest conches.

Some of the conservative New Haven graduates are opposed to any attempt to revive the hard feeling engendered on both sides hast November, but some who were Hinkey's closest friends and advisers are still very bitter, and they are responsible for reopening the breach. Of course, Harvard's action is awaited with great interest at New Haven, and by the Yale men here in New York who are on the inside and know what the situation is.

The conservative ones are afraid that there nay be no game next fall between the blue and the crimson, as they say the Yale management will never back down on the conditions as stated, and they do not think that an apology will be made by Harvard's coaches.

SOLLY SMITH WINS THE VERDICE He Beats George Siddens in a Bout at the New Manbattan A. C.

The gymnasium of the New Manhattan Athletic Club was crowded with members lest night, who gathered to see an excellent list of fistic events decided in the roped ring. The officials were Charles Sagel, referee; Dr. John Wilson Gibbs and W. H. Henry, judges; Dr. Arthur O'Shea, timer, and John P. Dunn, master of ceremonies.

The first battle of the evening was one of sig rounds, between Mike Newman of Brooklyn and Jimmy Paul of this city. They weighted about 105 pounds and put up a slashing go. The judges disagreed, and Referee Sagel gave the pout to Paul.

Eddle Loeber and Eddle Sweeny came next in a six-round affair at 125 pounds. Leeber was badly punished in the first three rounds, his right eye being completely closed. Sweeny's blows were full of steam, and in the fourth blows were full of steam, and in the fourth round Loeber was knocked down twice. He was groggy in the fifth, and the referee wanted to stop further proceedings, but Loeber wouldn't hear of such a thing, although he was being slugged right and left. It was one of the most remarkable exhibitions of gameness ever seen in the club house, and though Loeber lost the fight, he was admired for his plack in facing such terrible punishment.

Mike Harris and Joe Harmon put up an interesting six-round go at 140 pounds for the third event, and Harmon had the advantage all the way through, winding up the last round by cutting Mike's right eye open. The judges, however, disagreed, and the referee very properly gave his decision in favor of Harmon.

George Siddons and Solly Smith how met in an eight-round boutat about 120 pounds. Smith took the aggressive stonce, and did all the leading throughout. Siddons's defence was clever, but he failed to stop Solly's flerce rushes in the last round and was punched all over the ring. The judges agreed on Smith, as there was no alternative.

The wind up was a six-round fight at light weight between Al O'Brien of Philadelphia and Stanton Abbott of England. The latter was by long odds the cleverer boxer, but he couldn't hit hard enough to break a pane of glass. O'Brien showed considerable ability, but he was outclassed. Abbott got the verdict and the crowd was satisfied.

LAVIGNE WON'T MEET GRIFFO. Sam Fitzpatrick Declares the Match Off and Calls Griffo a Coward.

The match between "Young" Griffo and Kid" Lavigne, which was billed by the Seaside A. C. for May 30; will not take place. It was officially declared off yesterday. Sam Fitspatrick, who manages, backs, and trains La-vigne, was the first to announce that the combat would not be held. He has come to the conclusion to openly declare the battle off, as far as his man is concerned. Sam attended the Brooklyn Handicap yesterday afternoon. After the ices he was seen by The SUN reporter, to whom races he was seen by TRESUN reporter, to whom he said:

"I have been under the impression ever since the present match was made that Griffo never intended carrying out his part of the programme. His conduct within the past few weeks has been that of a coward. He did not act like a puglist who wanted to fight; he simply tried to keep up a strong bluff that he was going to meet my man, v hen in his own heart he mover intended to step into the ring and take a chance. We have been after him to make a match for very nearly a year. The public is well aware how he dickered and dodged to get out of it. Finally, when the sentiment of the sports became too manifest, he at length agreed to fight, I wanted to have the battle limited to twenty-five rounds, but Griffo would not listen to this. He said he could not stand such a long fight. In order to make the context a surety I agreed to fifteen rounds. The 'Kid' went humedistely into training, and kept falth with the public and club. After he had been hard at work for two weeks we learned that Griffo, who had not commenced to train, wanted a postponement. It was galling, but I consented to a change of date. Lavigne will never entertain another proposition for a match with him, but is open to meet any other 13st-pound man in the world for a side bet of $5,000 and a purse." If ugly Behan informed the reporter yesterday that Griffo was in training, and would continue until further notice. Behan refused to say where his man was quartered.

"How about this reported offer from San Antonio?"

"Well, we'll accept anything that Vendig offers, but we will not cross the border line."
